Data privacy

By taking part in the above-mentioned campaign, I declare my consent to the use by the Handel House Foundation of my personal data, such as my last name, first name, postal address and email address when publishing the above contribution and photographic material in the 2022 special exhibition and other museum presentations, press releases, print media, publications and reports, in electronic form on its website and in the social media, and for archiving purposes in the Foundation’s library, etc., and that it may, if necessary, transfer them to third parties (e.g. to media editors, agencies and printers, etc.). By signing this declaration of consent, I also willingly agree to the processing of my personal data for the purpose of fulfilling the rights and obligations arising from the editing, use and publication of the above contribution, and to the purpose-related processing of the personal data collected in compliance with the legal provisions of the EU General Data Protection Regulation.

I have been informed that I can revoke my consent to the Handel House Foundation at any time. Should I do so, I consent to the use of material already commissioned, or printed or similarly processed, prior to revocation. Furthermore, I am entitled to receive information about my personal data free of charge.

Copyright

I hereby affirm that I hold all rights to the submitted images and/or contributions and that the submitted material is free of third-party rights. I further affirm that I am entitled to grant use and exploitation rights to the submitted material. In addition, I hereby confirm that the material I have submitted does not violate any privacy rights. If one or several people depicted on the submitted photos are recognisable, they must declare their consent to the publication of the photographic material. In the event of submitted material being published, the Handel House Foundation reserves the right to examine any possible privacy rights of third parties.

Use and exploitation rights

By submitting the above contribution and/or photographic material, I concede to the Handel House Foundation all rights of use and exploitation with no limits of time, content or place and declare my unrestricted consent to making it publicly accessible; also the right to reproduce it in printed and electronic form. The transfer of the use and exploitation rights refers to publication in the context of the 2022 special exhibition, other publications in the Handel House Foundation museum, press releases, print media, publications, in electronic form on the website, in the social media, and reports, as well as to archiving in the Handel House Foundation library. This also includes the right of the Handel House Foundation to edit the submitted images and/or contributions for the purposes of presentation in exhibitions and publications by the Foundation and for reporting, including in all the social media. These rights are granted free of charge. All content will be checked prior to publication. I acknowledge that the editors reserve the right not to publish defamatory contributions or contributions with racist or sexist content, or which glorify violence. Furthermore, I agree to the shortening of the contribution for editorial reasons.

Liability

The Handel House Foundation accepts no liability for the loss of or possible damage to submitted photographic material.

I hereby confirm that the information I have provided is correct:
